

REQUEST IS MADE BY HEALTH BOARD

Residents Asked Not to Throw Fruit
Peelings and Other Debris on Improved Streets.

FOR PROTECTION OF HEALTH

Suggested that Waste Paper Containers be Placed on Corners in Business Section.

Dr. M. F. Gerrish, secretary of the city board of health, today issued a statement addressed to residents, asking them to refrain from throwing fruit peelings, paper sacks and other waste material on the improved streets until some arrangement is made to keep them in a clean and sanitary condition. The notice also asks the merchants not to dump the sweepings from their stores into the streets as such debris is blown about and adds to the already insanitary condition of the paved streets.

It has been suggested that if residents will co-operate in carrying out this instruction much of the debris can be kept from the streets. It is pointed out that already such trash is collecting along the curb lines on the paved streets, especially in the business section, and also in the residential parts of the city that are close to the center of the city and get the heavy daily travel. The health officer says that if for no other reason sanitation demands that effort should be made to prevent the further accumulation of such trash.

It has been proposed that temporary cans or other containers be placed at the several street intersections in the business district to provide a place for putting the fruit peelings and waste paper that is now thrown on the streets. It is believed that if this plan were adopted much of the debris could be kept off the streets. Following this suggestion the question arises as to who would empty such containers as the entire street force is off duty.

In some sections of the city, notably in the business district where the travel is the heaviest, complaints have been made that obnoxious odors are arising from the decaying accumulations on the streets. A few complaints of a serious nature have been filed, but nothing can be done at this time until the health board should deem the situation of such a character that it would be warranted in demanding that the streets be swept. The state law gives the board the power to do this, it is stated, and unquestionably the state board would have the authority. However, it is hoped that the local condition can be settled without asking the state board of health to come down here and order the Seymour streets swept.

Nothing has been done towards reaching an agreement relative to returning the street force to work. Street Commissioner Brown has been on duty since the force quit work and has been looking after the emergency cases. Allie Clark, who drives the flusher, has also been carrying for the city team and doing such work as the street commissioner requests. There is no fund at this time from which these men can be paid.

A few residents have been sweeping the streets around the curb line, but as a general thing the improved sections have been neglected. Property owners generally, say that they are not disposed to do the work and do not intend to remove any of the trash. It is said that sewerage trouble would probably result in case of a heavy rain now, as the debris is accumulating along the gutters and would be carried into the sewers by surface water. In some places the accumulation is so large that the sewers might not be able to carry it away.

EMPLOYEE AT SHALE HILL HIT BY HEAVY PIECE OF STONE

Henry Blankenship is in Serious Condition as Result of Internal Injuries.

Henry Blankenship, who was injured Saturday while working in the quarries at Shale Hill, is in a serious condition and his recovery is doubtful. He was attempting to dislodge a large piece of stone and it fell on his arm and side.

At first Mr. Blankenship did not think that he was seriously injured and believed that only his arm was severely bruised and mashed. Wednesday, however, his condition became more serious and several physicians were called to make examinations. It is thought that he is injured internally. He is suffering intense pain, which leads the physicians to believe that his injuries may result in his death.

SPECIFICATIONS HAVE NOT BEEN RECEIVED HERE

Contractors Who Desire to Bid on New Postoffice Building Can Get Specifications Here.

Specifications for the new post-office building here had not been received by Postmaster Swope this afternoon but he was expecting them to arrive at any time. A number of the specifications will be sent to him and contractors who desire to bid on the work can obtain a copy from him.

Each contractor is required to sign an agreement when he takes out a copy of the specifications. The bids are to be filed with the supervising architect in the treasury department in Washington and the proposals will be opened October 31. The building will be constructed of Bedford stone. The bids will include all the mechanical equipment that will be used in the new postoffice.

LOCAL HUNTERS TO GET LICENSES IN THIS CITY

Clerk Stout Arranges With A. P.
Carter to Issue Necessary Papers From His Store.

County Clerk Willard Stout was in the city today and announced that local hunters could secure hunting licenses from A. P. Carter of this city, on and after October 1. This will be welcome news to Seymour sportsmen as it will save them the trouble of making a trip to the court house or of sending by mail for the required scrap of paper. At the same time, it will greatly lessen the work at the clerk's office, as the office is usually swamped the first few days of the hunting season, and as a good percentage of the requests come from this city and township, the arrangement will tend to lighten their duties in that respect.

TOTAL LEVY FOR CITY UNCHANGED

Township Tax Assessed Against City
Property for the First Time
—Total $3.56.

INCREASES IN TOWNSHIPS

New Concrete Roads and Other Improvements Responsible for Boost in Taxes Next Year.

Seymour and Carr townships are the only corporations in the county that will have the same tax rate in 1916 as in 1915. Increases are shown in all the towns and ten of the townships. The table showing the levies for the coming year has been prepared by the county auditor. The levies were fixed by the advisory boards at their meeting in September and the reports were filed with the auditor by the several township trustees.

The state and county levies will be the same as this year. The increases in the local levies are due to improvements that have been made or contemplated. The great increase is in Driftwood township which will have a levy next year of $2.70 compared to $2 for this year.

Brownstown township also will have a higher rate of taxation next year. The increase of sixty-one cents was necessitated by the new concrete roads which have been constructed this summer. The roads extend from Brownstown into Driftwood township. The town of Brownstown also has an increase because of new streets that were constructed.

The tax rate for Seymour, $3.56, will remain unchanged. The city council lowered the rate here and even with the increased levy asked by the library board the total levy for the city would have been two cents lower than paid this year. However, the new township levy which amounts to two cents on the hundred dollars is charged against the city for the first time this year and brings the total up to that of collected this year.

Taxes are always collected for the preceding year and the tables are made out accordingly. The levies for the coming year and also those for this year are:

	1915	1914
Driftwood,	$2.70	$2.00
Grassy Fork,	2.60	2.40
Brownstown,	2.35	1.74
Washington,	2.40	2.34
Jackson,	1.50	1.45

WOODMEN TO HOLD DISTRICT MEETING

National Lecturer E. J. Johnson will Explain New Ritual at Session
Here, September 29.

STATE ORGANIZER TO COME

Drill Team will be Enlarged from Membership of Sixteen to Twenty-four.

A district meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America will be held in this city Wednesday, September 29, having been called to discuss several matters of business among which is the new ritual which becomes effective next month. National Lecturer, E. J. Johnson, of Rock Island, Ill., and State Organizer McGath, of Indianapolis, have arranged to attend. It is expected that quite a large number of members from other lodges in the district will be present at the meeting.

The ritual which is to be adopted by all the lodges in the country the first of next month, is different in several respects from the one now in use. The national and state officers who will be present will explain in full the various changes. Under the new ritual the work will be more beautiful and it is confidently expected that the changes will meet with the enthusiastic approval of the members.

Heretofore the drill team has consisted of sixteen members, but after the first of next month there will be twenty-four uniformed men in line. Claud Carter, captain of the local Woodmen drill team, is now busy organizing the larger company which will be present at the district meeting. The national lecturer will direct some of his remarks to the team and will explain the part they will have in the work.

The local lodge of Modern Woodmen is in a healthy, growing condition. The membership now numbers close to three hundred and a total insurance of approximately $400,000 is carried by the Seymour lodge. The offices of the national organization are at Rock Island, Ill. One million men, ranging in age from eighteen up, are enrolled in the various lodges of the country. The insurance rates which were under discussion recently, have been permanently fixed and the insurance department is in splendid condition, according to the recent report.

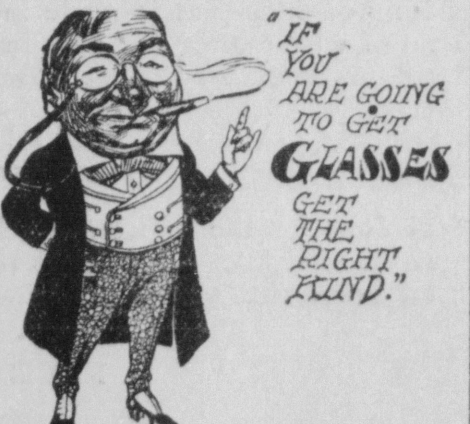

The local lodge was represented at the State Log Rolling at Terre Haute Wednesday.

CONCESSION MADE BY GERMANY IN NEW NOTE

Communication Reaches State Department Relative to William P. Frye Case.

By United Press
Washington, September 23.—Germany makes concessions regarding attacks upon American ships carrying conditional contraband in a note bearing upon the William P. Frye case received from Berlin and made public today by the state department.
The Government consents to arbitration to the loss of the Frye and names experts to reach an agreement as to the pecuniary loss, but does not acknowledge any treaty was violated in the sinking of the Frye. The note suggests settlement of this disputed point by Hague arbitration.

CRIPPLE GUARDED PRIMARY BALLOTS

Edward H. Foullois Testified in Mayor Bell Trial That He Wanted a Fair Count.

WATCHED BOXES ALL NIGHT

Edward Bohall, Progressive Clerk,
Said He Was Commended for Obeying His Oath.

By United Press.
Indianapolis, Sept. 23.—How a cripple stayed up all night to watch the primary returns in the Seventh precinct of the Tenth ward rather than allow a fraudulent count was told on the witness stand in the Mayor Bell election conspiracy trial today by Edward H. Foullois.

The witness, aged 54, appeared much older. He walked with a cane. His evidence was given in a positive tone.

"After about 100 democratic tallies had been made for the county treasurer I wanted to be convinced the count was fair and I made them recount," he said. "When I found the count didn't agree with the ballots, I put the ballots back in the box and stayed all night," said Foullois.

"In the morning when a man came whom I knew I sent him for the election commissioners and I turned the ballots over to him," Foullois said. He was not cross-examined.

Edward Bohall, progressive clerk in the 10th of the 13th said two men on the board there got sick on the morning of the primary. John Dolton, now a policeman, and Leo Rail, now city milk inspector, were appointed in their places, the witness said. Then he said Rail had told him a man wanted to see him at the door.

"The men told me if I didn't see what was going on he would see I got my salary. I told him I had taken my oath and would keep it. He said 'All right, I will stand by you, kid, I admire your spunk.' " Bohall said he found out later that this man was Goosie Costello.

State witnesses have testified Costello hauled witnesses that day.

DEMONSTRATING HOW TO SAVE HUMAN LIVES

Fifty Teams of Miners Compete for Prizes in "First Aid" Exhibition.

By United Press.

San Francisco, Sept. 23—A great national demonstration of ways of saving human lives is being held here. Fifty teams of miners from all parts of the United States are ready to compete for medals to be awarded the best work in life-saving and first-aid.

The miners in the contest were selected through state and sectional elimination competitions. The team representing the Southwestern states came to the fair on the $1,000 given as first prize at the contest held in Kansas City in July. The winners of the Southern interstate contest had their expenses defrayed in the same way after a lively competition at Birmingham, Ala.

Today's program provides for contests between teams representing the same states and groups of states in the West. These teams will meet the Eastern teams tomorrow.

The U. S. Bureau of mines is taking an active part in the demonstration. In the past four years the bureau has trained 25,000 miners in rescue and first-aid work. It now has eight mine rescue cars in operation, manned by trained crews who when not actually engaged in rescue work, spend their time teaching the miners.

Operators have been spurred by the bureau to establish rescue stations and provide rescue cars, until there are now 70 of the former and 12 of the latter in use.

The need for such efforts is shown by the appalling death rate in the mines of this country.

In the year 1913, the last year for which statistics are available for all the mines and allied industries, 3,762 men were killed and 177,000 injured. This includes coal mines, quarries, ore-dressing plants and smelting plants.

In the last ten years, in the coal mines alone, there have been 26,000 deaths, a fatality rate of three and three-quarters men in every 1,000 employed, and more than a million men injured.

It was to reduce the death rate and lessen the number of injuries that the Federal Government early in 1908 took up its work of the miners. The first marked progress was in 1911, when the first national mine safety demonstration was held at Pittsburg, in the presence of the President of the United States and 20,000 miners. Since that time there has been a wonderful development throughout the country in both rescue and first-aid work.

"A large proportion of the men entering the mines," said an official of the bureau, "come from the farms and villages of different European countries, they are unfamiliar with our language, our institutions, our laws, and know little or nothing of mining. A majority of the men now working in the coal mines of the United States speak and read but little English. It is therefore difficult to reach these men through publications, even when the latter are prepared in the most simple and elementary manner.

"No one likes to estimate the money value of a human life, but at times it becomes necessary to do this, especially in working out the economies of compensation acts. It is a reasonable estimate that during the past ten years more than 30,000 men have been killed in connection with the accidents in the mining industries of this country. It is impossible to estimate the number of injured or who have suffered from bad health condition. It is impossible to estimate the number of men with health shattered through these conditions who have had to give up their work years before their natural time or the number of dependents who have suffered thereby.

"It is assumed that each life lost is valued at $3,000 it will be seen that the deaths alone in the mines have cost in the ten years $90,000,000."

GERMAN ADMIRALTY DENIES SUBMARINE SUNK HESPERIAN

Suggests That Possibly British Mine Intended for U-Boats Might Have Sunk Vessel.

(By Carl Ackerman, United Press Correspondent.)

Berlin, September 23 (via wireless)—The admiralty has submitted to the foreign office an memorandum declaring positively that no German submarine attacked the Allan liner Hesperian. The memorandum suggests that possibly a British mine intended for the destruction of German U-boats might have sunk the liner off the Irish coast.

NATION-WIDE MISSIONARY CAMPAIGN TO BE INAUGURATED
Conventions will be held in 75 Cities in 37 States—Congress at Washington in April.

By United Press
Washington, Sept. 23.—A nation wide missionary campaign to start next October is being planned by the directors and laymen of the missionary movement in the various churches of the United States. The campaign will include conventions to be held in 75 cities of 37 states and the District of Columbia, and will end with a national missionary congress here April 26 to 30, 1916.

The number of registered delegates is expected to exceed 150,000 and 40,000 churches are to be invited to send representatives. In most of the large cities convention committees have been organized and plans for a campaign of education which will last two months are being made by the laymen.

The local convention is scheduled to come about the middle of the campaign. It is proposed to make no financial appeals during the campaign, but the directors expect that contributions to missions and church work will be greatly increased as a result of the activities.

In New England the following cities will hold conventions: Boston, Worcester, Mass.; Portland, Me.; Manchester, N. H.; and Waterbury, Conn. Arrangements to participate in the campaign are also being made by Seattle, San Francisco, Buffalo, Denver, Tacoma and Chicago, among others.

BRITISH TEXTILE MILLS RUNNING FULL CAPACITY
Two Hundred Miles of Khaki Woven Each Week to be Made Into Uniforms.

By United Press
London, September 23.—Some idea of the number of soldiers England has equipped or now is equipping may be gained by a survey of the work of the great British textile districts which shows that khaki to equip 200,000 men weekly is now being produced.

Two hundred miles of this yellow material, 56 inches wide are woven and dyed every seven days throughout the network of industries centered in Leeds and other Yorkshire cities. Government contract tailors on the various scenes are not far behind the mills in putting the cloth into uniforms.

For the past three months the difficult government problem of producing enough khaki to garb the latest recruits has been solved. The textile mills are still turning out their weekly quota and have not yet received a "slowdown" order from the war office.

From Manchester comes the huge quantities of cotton thread, lining and trimming materials for the soldier's uniform. Birmingham furnishes carloads of buttons, buckles and other metal pieces.

The number of persons engaged in this work is a small army in itself.

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking
(The Beauty Seeker.)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these requisites, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face."

"But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after-effects, has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, which has been called 'vegetable calomel' because of its effectiveness—though of course it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'santanel' tablets—that's the name—and their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. Santanel tablets, which may be procured from any drugstore—a dime's worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin
(Messenger of Health.)

Unsightly eruptions, pimples, boils, blotches, sallow or muddy skin, usually are due to a sluggish liver, a constipated bowel and a polluted blood stream as a consequence. How foolish in such cases to resort to outward applications, which can never have natural permanent results. If more people only knew it, there is a very simple remedy, to be found in any drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick. It is an old formula, long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost no one need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits.

"Santanel tablets"—that's the name—are entirely vegetable and there's no habit-forming ingredient. You need only get about a dime's worth, and swallow one at bedtime to realize there's nothing else quite so good for the purpose. The action in the morning is so easy, so soothing, and instead of a weakening after-effect, you feel truly refreshed and invigorated. Santanel tablets are not only the finest remedy known for constipation and torpid liver, but offer the sanest, most sensible treatment for complexion difficulties of the character mentioned.

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

They say that the advent of the "santanel tablet" as a vegetable substitute for calomel has resulted in an extraordinary demand for this remarkable product. It seems to have made a hit particularly with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its advantages over calomel and the usual laxatives.

Santanel tablets, aside from their efficacy, doubtless owe their success largely to a tendency to aid in bringing about natural functioning—instead of encouraging the "cathartic habit." Also, instead of injuring the membranous lining of the organs involved, they exert a healing influence. Instead of weakening, they add tone to the intestinal wall. And they work so easily and gently, they are of course preferred on this account to the violently acting purgatives. Their inexpensiveness is another reason for the popularity of santanel tablets. One need procure only a dime's worth, and take one tablet upon retiring, to be convinced that the ideal remedy for constipation, torpid liver, and their many evil consequences, has finally been found.—Drugists Review.

Victim Believed to Be Rofrano.
Camden, N. J., Sept. 23.—The body of an Italian answering in many respects the description of Former Deputy Street Commissioner Michael A. Rofrano of New York, wanted in connection with political murders in the Italian district, was taken from the Passaic river and is now in a local morgue.

Ship to Undergo Repairs.

EDISON ATTENDS DINNER
For First Time in Two Years Wizard Makes an Exception.

New York, Sept. 23.—For the first time in more than two years, Thomas A. Edison attended a dinner. The exception was not an ordinary one, for the guests at the table were the twelve foremost chemists of the United States, including the wizard himself, and the banquet was served in the dining hall of the Chemists' Club in East Forty-first street.

The dinner was entirely informal, no speeches being on the program and the small talk during the meal had little to do with war or the future activities of the naval advisory board of which Mr. Edison is the head.

After the dinner the party adjourned to the Chemical Industries show at the Grand Central Palace. It was to attend the latter that Mr. Edison came to the city.

"OO-y! My Oorn-n!" H-m, Use 'Gets-It'
Then You'll Have No Corns to Bump! Your Corns Will Come "Clean Off" Quick!

Did you ever see a corn peel off after you've used "Gets-It" on it? Well, it's a moving-picture for your life! And you hardly do a thing to it.

"Sore Corn Bumped Against Use 'Gets-It' Corns Vanish!"

Put a little "Gets-It" on, it dries at once. There's nothing to stick. Put shoes and stockings on right over it. No pain, no fuss. 48 hours—corns gone. "Gets-It" never hurts the true flesh, never makes toes sore. If you have tried almost everything else for corns, you will be much more surprised to see how quickly and easily your corns and calluses will come right off with "Gets-It." Quit limping and wrinking up your face with corn wrinkles. Try "Gets-It" tonight on that corn, callus, wart or bunion, and you'll be glad you read this.

"Gets-It" is sold by all druggists. 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Seymour and recommended as the world's best corn remedy, by C. E. Loertz and H. H. Carter.

Notice to Residents.
As the improved streets are not being swept and the debris is collecting along the gutters in some places, the residents are asked not to throw fruit peelings, empty sacks and other waste material on the streets. Merchants are also requested to assist in keeping the city in as good a sanitary condition as possible by not dumping sweepings from the stores into the streets until this matter is corrected.

EXPECTS FAVORABLE REPLY
Vienna Must Recall Dumba Before Safe Passage Is Arranged.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Until the Austrian government has made a satisfactory response to the American note, requesting the recall of its ambassador, Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, the state department will ignore requests from the embassy for a safe conduct for the ambassador.

This was made clear here following the receipt of a message from the Austro-Hungarian embassy at Lenox, Mass., advising the department that Dr. Dumba planned to sail for home on Sept. 28 on leave of absence, and requesting that a safe conduct be secured for him.

The department is arranging for a safe conduct for Mme Dumba to sail on the date named.

The attitude of this government in the Dumba case is that it is dealing with the Vienna government and not with the ambassador, whom it has pronounced persona non grata. If the Austro-Hungarian government replies to the American note announcing Dr. Dumba's recall, the state department will then endeavor to get a safe conduct for the ambassador.

Biliousness and Constipation.
It is certainly surprising that any woman will endure the miserable feeling caused by biliousness and constipation, when relief is so easily had and at so little expense. Mrs. Chas Peck, Gates, N. The Fall Opening edition of The Western Sun, of Vincennes, in four sections, was issued Saturday and carries the Fall announcements of the leading business houses of the city. The various merchants co-operated and agreed to hold their Fall openings at the same time, and their announcements made necessary the large edition, which reflects credit alike upon these aggressive merchants, their city and upon the Sun.

PEOPLE'S SAYSO.

OUR HEALTH AT STAKE.

While the honorable Mayor and city council are playing petty politics over amounts to be expended for street cleaning, the streets are already filthy. An odor is easily noticeable. If the odor alone were all to worry about we might be able to endure it, but there is danger in these uncleaned streets.

Cooler weather is here. Children pass the unswept streets and play on their way to school. An occasional cold in the head is frequently ushered in at the start of cooler weather. Children having colds will react dangerously to the clouds of filth carried from our unswept, improved streets. Some of these will have tonsillitis, and others may have diphtheria. Let any epidemic strike our school children and decisive action will come from the parents and taxpayers.

The streets should be cleaned and kept clean. It would be humiliating for citizens to ask aid from any outside source. Let arrangements be made at once. We cannot afford to play with our health, and none know this better than the very men who are at loggerheads over appropriation. The danger grows with each day's delay.

Enthusiastic Rally.

Local Republicans who attended the Columbia Club rally at Indianapolis Wednesday declare that it was one of the most enthusiastic political meetings they ever attended. The address of Will H. Hays, Republican state chairman, was a stirring appeal to members of the party to become individual workers for the cause of republicanism. He said prosperity would come with the return of the Republicans to power.

Among those who attended from here were Dr. G. G. Graessle, Frank Bush, Judge O. H. Montgomery, Judge John M. Lewis, Harlan Montgomery and C. D. Billings.

SUMMER SAYS
A FOND FAREWELL

Took Departure at Exactly 4:20
O'clock, Leaving Miss Autumn
to Look After Things.

FALL STYLES INTERESTING

With Official Arrival of New Season, the Window Displays Attract Much Attention.

'Twas the last rose of summer that bloomed in your flower bed this afternoon, for, even though it may not be "left blooming alone," with all "its lovely companions faded and gone"—they'll all be fall flowers tomorrow, for Summer is a thing of the past. She left this afternoon at 4:20 o'clock, and the same moment witnessed the advent of Autumn, who brought with her all her bewitching costumes which she expects to display in the near future, and prepared to settle down and make herself at home for a three month's stay.

The departure of the good old Summer time went practically unnoticed, even though she donned her most attractive garb—a delightful sunshine costume—for her going away stunt, evidently striving to leave a good impression and thus be insured of a cordial reception when she comes back next June for her annual sojourn in "our midst."

According to those who know about such things, or are supposed to know, today was exactly half sunshine and half shadow, the sun being just twelve hours above the horizon and twelve below. The sun shone warmly throughout the day and ran up a score of 77 degrees.

With the going of Summer and the advent of Fall there were many sad partings and tearful farewells today as many brave fellows, who had defied the convention which some fashion designers have tried to impose in making the first of September the day to lay aside Summer duds, bade affectionate adieus to palm beaches and straw hats. And if it has required courage to stick to straw through the first three weeks of September, then the fellow who comes out in one after today will be deserving an iron cross, the legion of honor, or at least a Carnegie medal.

With the fair sex, 'tis different. With the first faint breath of fall they are ready—yea anxious—to put away the Summer hats and dresses and appear on the scene in all the glory and effulgence of the newest Autumn creations. But even at that, the official arrival of Fall is expected to start a new rush on the millinery and dress goods stores. The local millinery stores are announcing their annual Fall openings for this week, although they have been selling Fall hats for several weeks. The ladies wear stores are all showing the latest creations in Autumn outfits, and are expecting the buying season to start in earnest with the coming of Fall.

All of the display windows are attractively decorated with the new styles, and are being watched by interested shoppers who are trying to pick out "just the one they want."

INSTALL $300.00 RANGE
IN NEW LYNN KITCHEN

Cordes Hardware Co. Furnish Immense Range That Will Supply the Cooking For 200 People.

Wednesday night the Cordes Hardware Co. installed a $300 Model hotel range in the New Lynn hotel kitchen. This range has a top surface 38x82 inches with two nine inch holes over the firebox. The balance of the top is smooth plate. The range has two ovens each of which is large enough to cook a forty pound turkey. In fact this range is large enough to cook provisions for 200 people. It is manufactured by the Portsmouth Stove and Range Co., of Portsmouth, Ohio. This company is located on the Ohio river enabling them to get raw material from Pittsburgh and the Pennsylvania coal and iron fields at a minimum cost for their manufacturing purposes. They make a line of cooking and heating stoves which is sold all over the country. The Cordes Hardware Co. who installed this hotel range have handled the Portsmouth product for over thirty-five years which is sufficient guarantee not only of the stoves and ranges themselves but also of the local company handling them.

FRANK WINTERBERG, JR.,
HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Harry McColgin Goes to Edinburg on Account of Condition of His Brother-in-law.

Harry McColgin, auditor of the Indianapolis & Louisville Traction Company, received a telegram today relative to the serious injury of his brother-in-law, Frank Winterberg, Jr., of Edinburg, who was thrown from an automobile Wednesday night near Franklin. The message stated that Mr. Winterberg's recovery is doubtful. Mr. McColgin went to Edinburg today.

Mr. Winterberg and some friends were returning to Edinburg from the Republican rally at Indianapolis. When the party attempted to pass a buggy north of Franklin a rear wheel of the automobile broke and the men were thrown out. A machine following the Pruitt car took the injured men to Edinburg. Physicians said Winterberg could not recover.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT NEW ALBANY PRESBYTERY

The Rev. F. J. Compson, Pastor of Local Church, and R. J. Perkinson, Delegate, Return.

The Rev. F. J. Compson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and R. J. Perkinson, who was selected as a delegate by the Session, have returned from Henryville where they attended the New Albany Presbytery. They report a large attendance at all sessions. The addresses were especially interesting.

A sensational address was delivered by the Rev. C. Lucas, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at New Albany, when he declared that the members of the rural churches were not paying as much as they should for the support of the pastors. The New Albany minister said that many "rich farmers traveling in their automobiles and talking about their big crops were paying from $5 to $7 a year to their pastor." The Henryville congregation is composed largely of farmers and some of them left the building during the address. The Rev. Mr. Lucas said he would return to his congregation and recommend that no money be paid for the support of the country churches by his church, and that such funds be used for their own needs.

The Rev. Mr. Compson stated

during a discussion that followed he did not think a congregation should call another pastor when they failed to pay the last minister who served that congregation.

History of the Indiana Study Club

(By Mrs. J. W. Conner.)

Every woman should be interested in her own state, especially when it is one that has the rich resources, beautiful forests, wonderful scenery and natural attractions of which Indiana can so proudly boast. There are hundreds of interesting facts concerning Indiana which are entirely overlooked by the average reader unless a special study is given to it.

A few women who were anxious to learn more of our state and were willing to make a thorough study of it decided to form a permanent organization for this purpose. So on June 11, 1910, the Indiana Study Club was organized. Officers were elected and by-laws drafted and we ventured forth seeking a place by the side of our sister clubs.

The presiding officers for the first year were:

Mrs. Olive Conner—President.
Mrs. Stella Barbour—Vice President.

Mrs. Laura Cox—Secretary.
Mrs. Jeanette Gault—Treasurer.

The time of meeting was fixed as the first and third Thursday of each month from September until June. The emblem chosen by the club was the Indiana State Seal. On the first page of each annual program is printed the very appropriate verse written by Sarah T. Bolton, an Indiana writer:

"The winds of heaven never fanned,
"The circling sunlight never spanned,
"The borders of a better land
"Than our own Indiana."

The first year's work was given to early Indiana history, beginning with the territorial government. In those days the latch string of the settler's home was always out to the traveler and wanderer whose call was greeted by the friendly "Who's here?" which current phrase was afterwards contracted into "Hoosier" and adopted as the nickname of the state.

Indiana residents need not go from home to hunt places of interest. In the autumn months our woodlands are a marvel of loveliness. When the foliage is turning to the warmer tints, varying from the lightest yellows and browns to the rich, dark reds, the hills and valleys present a riot of color to the appreciative eye. It is true, one must frequently turn from the beaten paths of travel to find the most picturesque spots, yet the lover of nature feels amply rewarded by the unexpected wonders and beauties which are revealed.

Nature has been truly kind to our state. The artist has discovered this and comes with brush and paint to place on canvas some of the splendors of nature "Made in Indiana," and frequently these pictures are given precedence in art exhibits in which hundreds of paintings are entered.

This wealth of natural scenery is worth much to the Hoosier. "Scenery like music is thought compelling, and gives one a rare combination of practical and poetical inspiration." Indiana has natural beauties that will vie with those of any state in the middle west. They are not confined to any one section but are found from the beautiful lake region in the north to the low hanging hills of the winding Ohio. For those who love to explore, Crawford county gives Wyandotte Cave; Orange county numerous smaller ones, together with Lost River flowing through caves and abounding with hidden water falls.

Besides its scenic beauty Indiana has a vast wealth of natural resources. It is noted throughout the country for its stone quarries and coal beds not to mention its mineral waters, first discovered by the Indians, the medicinal quality of which is famous both in this country and abroad.

The products of Indiana have also been given a careful study. It is in this state that the prize corn is grown. For several years the banner belt has been gradually approaching our own county and in the near future the prize grain may be produced in Jackson county, at the very threshold of the Farmers' Club Building, the only institution of its kind in the United States.

Those who love to weave fancies as in a story book can read the wonderful romance of Aaron Burr and Harmon Blennerhassett who are said to have used the hidden cabin near Vallonia as their rendezvous. The incident centering around the island in the Ohio River near Wheeling, West Virginia, where Blennerhassett built his mansion and formulated plans for the establishment of the Southwestern Empire with himself as dictator, makes a story worth reading. And, local color is added because of the tradition that the conspirators sought refuge in the little log cabin in Driftwood township after the discovery of their plot.

The second year the Club began the study of Indiana writers, artists, statesmen, musicians, educators, clergymen, prominent women, and churches, universities and schools. With each succeeding year the work has become a combination of rare information and intense interest. The program committees soon found the problem was not a lack of material but how to condense it in a year's study.

It is said Indiana contributes three-fourths of the books of the nation. A wide field for study of Hoosier literature is offered with Ridpath, the historian, Riley, the poet, and a score of novelists among the foremost being, Lew Wallace, Meredith Nicholson, Charles Major, Booth Tarkington, Gene Stratton Porter, Edward Eggleston, Carolyn V. Krout, Elizabeth Miller Hack and Maurice Thompson.

In October 1912 a Riley program was given, this being the poet's birth-month. Riley's biography and a resume of his work were presented with a few readings of his most familiar poems. Reviews of the books of a number of Hoosier writers have been a prominent feature of our programs.

Nature study has not been neglected and subjects of great interest to the members were birds, trees and wild flowers of Indiana. One paper was given on Indiana orchards and another on forestry, including a discussion of the reservation in Scott county.

In addition to the above mentioned subjects, current events are given thought and study and have proved a helpful feature of the meetings. Other interesting points that have been considered are: civics, temperance, travel, medicinal frauds, and the relation of woman to the home and state. One debate was arranged on the question: "Resolved: That the Indiana Pioneer Woman led a More Strenuous Life Than Those of Today." It was decided—ahem, well how was it decided?

For two years the Club was conducted as an independent organization, but in 1912 was federated.

Last February the Club held a Reciprocity Day at which time the Magazine Club of this city gave a very excellent program. Each year, but one, the Club has held an Open Meeting—an afternoon with our friends.

With the year 1916, the Centennial of our state, we have a rich feast before us. Many Clubs of the state are realizing the advisability of making a study of Indiana state history. "Know Indiana," would be a good slogan for the guidance of Club work this year.

The year 1916 starts out very promising for the Indiana Study Club. The program committee for this year consists of Mesdames Christine Rapp, Emma Russell and Lou Amy Wright. The outline for the year's work is of much interest as it is a journey, taking the Club members on a tour of the United States.

The officers for this year are: Mrs. Etta Mains—President.
Mrs. Laura Cox—Vice-President.
Mrs. Lou Amy Wright—Secretary.
Mrs. Nora Hancock—Treasurer.

The roster shows the following members: Mrs. Stella Barbour, Mrs. Adda Bush, Mrs. Olive Conner, Mrs. Ethel Conner, Mrs. Laura Cox, Mrs. Mayme Cox, Miss Nina Ewing, Mrs. Jeanette Gault, Mrs. Patience Guernsey, Mrs. Nora Hancock, Mrs. Etta Mains, Mrs. Effie Miller, Mrs. Edith Pfaffenberger, Mrs. Christine Rapp, Mrs. Emma Russell, Mrs. Sarah K. Shields, Mrs. Susannah Steele, Mrs. Lenore Swails, Mrs. Lou Amy Wright.

The honorary members are: Mrs. Laura Bollinger, Mrs. Eunice Casey, Mrs. Fannie Hancock and Mrs. Ida Miller.

NOW IS GOOD TIME TO MAKE FEW CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

Now is a good time to begin making Christmas presents. Of course it may be a little early but some work now will save the annual rush attending the last few days around December 25.

Aprons, fancy and practical ones, are always acceptable. A practical, pretty pattern is described:

It is made from two thickness of fine batiste. The outer piece is embroidered first. There are two buttonholed slits near the center front of the apron, leaving a panel effect which is elongated into a rounded bib, also buttonholed. There is a wreathed medallion for an initial and several little floral sprays to be worked in light pastel colors. After this much of the embroidery is done, the outer piece is basted to a plain piece of the material and the two are buttonholed together around the entire outside edge, with the exception of the top. When the facing has been placed across the back of the apron, through which can be run a ribbon, and the bib is tacked in place on the plain foundation, there will be a deep pocketed sewing apron that is as practical as could be desired.

A separate lace-edged pocket is a feature in a new sewing apron which is made of voile, is quite rounded and faced very plainly and demurely for at least four inches. The pocket is attached by lace-edged ribbons to the band of the apron by snap-fasteners or button and buttonhole.

Hats For Every Face

In the displays of new millinery that are of paramount interest just now women complain that the great variety in style and design in new hats is bewildering. There are so many shapes to choose from! Shall the hat be made of velvet or hatter's plush or felt or velour or fur or selected from among the innumerable combinations of these and other fabrics? What is the wisest choice in a season not dominated by a few styles?

Such a season leaves the individual to her own resources in making a choice. But it affords her a chance to exercise fine judgment in suiting her millinery to her own particular type. There are few freakish styles, in spite of this wonderful variety in hats, and there is a hat for every face.

One cannot go wrong in choosing velvet or any of the materials mentioned. Colors are dark and rich, and trimmings correspond. Metallic laces and braids, elaborate beadwork, silk and velvet flowers (and those covered with tinsel), ribbons of high luster, and rich ostrich plumes, are set off by the hats of beautiful and sedate colors that form the best of backgrounds for them. Fur and the most elaborate and carefully made cut steel ornaments provide many novelties in the way of trimmings, unlike any that have gone before.

Three of the new patterns are shown in the group pictured here. The small hat at the top has a coronet of velvet which is wide at the back but narrowed to a small upturned brim at the front. A brilliant corded silk covers the crown and the inside of the coronet, forming a binding about the edge of the hat. Two smart, upstanding plumes at the back, taken with the shape of the hat, suggest a military mode.

At the left a wide-brimmed hat with soft crown is made of velvet. The brim is curved in gentle and graceful lines. A metallic braid and a large flower, which looks like the airiest of filigree, makes up the simple and very effective trimming.

At the right a felt hat faced with velvet shows another of the picturesque wide-brimmed models. In this hat the crown is higher. Wide moire ribbon and silver lace adorn the unusual shape, in which the brim is deeply slashed at each side.

New Bronze Shade Popular.

In addition to the host of lovely tans and browns that are an evolution of the popular sand color is a new shade called bronze. This name hardly describes the color, which really seems to change its hue with each new color combination. It harmonizes well with yellow or green; in fact, it has the advantage of artistic combination with almost any color and can be matched easily in silk, velvet and net. Here is something different for the woman who is tired of usual colors.

Canning Without Cooking.

A general rule for canning fruit without cooking is the following: Make a sirup and boil five minutes, allowing one cupful of sugar and one cupful of water to each jar. Pare the fruit and pack whole in the jar; in each jar put one tablespoonful of pure alcohol or brandy and pour in the hot sirup until brimful, and seal.

inches square, or two layers fourteen inches square. Layer cakes require a hotter oven than loaf cakes.

Filling for the cake: Grind together in the meat grinder one-half pound of figs, one-half pound of pecans or English walnuts and one-fourth pound raisins. Make a boiled icing of two cups of granulated sugar, one-half cup of water and the whites of two eggs. Boil sugar and water together gently without stirring until it threads from the spoon. Turn this mixture slowly in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Beat while turning on the hot liquid, continue beating until the right consistency to spread. Leave out one-third and into the rest stir the fruit and nuts. Spread the fruit icing between the layers and on the top and over this spread the plain white icing. MRS. LINDEN HODAPP.

CHARLOTTE RUSSE.

One-fourth box gelatine or one tablespoon granulated gelatine; one-fourth cup cold water; one-half cup scalded cream; one-third cup powdered sugar; whip three and one-half cups thin cream; one and one-half teaspoonfuls vanilla; six lady fingers; soak gelatine in cold water, dissolved in scalded cream, strain into a bowl and add sugar and vanilla. Set bowl in pan of ice-water and stir constantly until it begins to thicken, then fold in whip from cream, adding one-third at a time. Should gelatine mixture become too thick, melt over hot water and cool before adding whip. Trim ends and sides of lady fingers and place around inside of mould, crust side out, one-half inch apart. Turn in mixture and chill. Serve garnished with cubes of wine jelly. Charlotte Russe is sometimes made in individual moulds. These are often garnished on top with some of the mixture forced through a pastry bag and tube. Individual moulds are frequently lined with thin slices of sponge cake, cut to fit mould.

BAKED TOMATOES.

Wipe and remove a thin slice from the stem end of six smooth medium sized tomatoes. Take out seeds and pulp and drain off most of the liquid. Add an equal quantity of cracker crumbs seasoned with salt and butter and a few drops of onion juice. Refill tomatoes with mixture. Place in a buttered pan, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake twenty minutes in a hot oven.

SPANISH ROAST.

Use two pounds of round steak and one pound pork shoulder. Grind the meats thoroughly with meat grinder. Mix one egg, one cupful of cracker crumbs and a little sliced onion. Heat two cupfuls of tomatoes, either canned or fresh, season them with salt and pepper and add a pinch of soda. Before the meat is done use part of the tomatoes for making a gravy. S. D. M.

PRUNE SOUFFLE.

Stew, drain and remove the pits from one and one-half pounds of prunes and cut them in pieces. To the beaten yolks of the four eggs add three ounces of sugar and beat until creamy. Add the prunes and the whites of the eggs. Bake twenty minutes.

MARGARET MASON'S FASHION LETTER

(Written for the United Press.)

New York, September 23.—Here's something else to take off in the name of Fashion. Girdles and belts simply aren't to be worn this season. This stern decree may bring the blush to the cheek of those who recall what a vital part the girdle plays on the 1915 evening gown. Rob an evening confection of this, its last stay of stability, and what have you. There's nothing to it. Since an evening gown consists solely of a girdle and a shoulder strap a banishment of the birdle is bound to leave much open to discussion. No doubt, many will unbosom themselves unduly on the subject. It's bound to make it mighty embarrassing for a fellow, too. How in the world can he tell whether his lady fair is wearing her waist in the middle or up under her shoulder blades with no distinguishing belt to blaze a trail. Even the poor girl herself is apt to be a bit dazed and mislay her waistline altogether. What with donning a normal waistlined basque in the morning, a longwaisted Moyaen Age effect at noon and an Empire gown at night she's bound to lose her sense of waist location without a single belt to cling to.

Just a mere milliner's fold of goods will join the bodices to skirts this year, a tiny cord, or oft times just a seam. Naturally, in the much heralded princess frocks no joining at the waistline is necessary and they may go to the head of the class of girdless gowns. Shirring, cording, smocking and godets are only a few of the many ways for finishing the waistlines, now that the all-swathing girdle and the snug clasped belt have been removed from all fashionable centers.

You can enjoy a good laugh in any kind of a sleeve you want to this Fall and Winter for Bishop sleeves, puff sleeves and our old friend the leg of mutton will be among those present when the call comes to present arms. Leg of mutton sleeves particularly are due for a decided vogue and you will find them all puffed up in many a stunning gown. Long, tight sleeves are still good style, but an indication of puffing, be it ever so tiny, is beginning to be glimpsed at their start out from the arm hole and a decidedly puffy finish for them should not prove surprising. The flaring bell sleeves are very popular when edged with fur banding and make a fitting component part of a costume whose short flaring skirt is also thus fur-trimmed.

Balloon sleeves, much tinier than the balloon sleeves of our salad days, now inflate themselves between the dropped shoulder seam to just below the elbow. A funny little short puff at the very top of the sleeve, with a long slim finish to the hand, is quaint and old fashioned. A banding of narrow fur often finishes the short puff and again repeats itself around the wrist or sometimes a tiny double shirring of the material does the same service. Transparent sleeves still cling diaphanously to well rounded forearms and though there is nothing thick about them they have more than a slim chance of survival as the most fitting of sleeves. With their weird propensity for erupting puffs at most unexpected places, the only real thing about the fall and winter sleeves is that they will all be long if they belong to the mode.

ACCESSORY CHANGES MOST IMPORTANT IN FALL TOGS

The distinct feature of autumn fashions lies not so much in a new sleeve or a novel coat, or either in a skirt cut according to some eccentric fashion, but in the fact that in the accessories of dress are centered most of the important changes. For example, skirts remain full, but they were full last year. Coats will flare, but they rippled and flared twelve months ago. On the other hand, look at collars, ties and belts and you will find distinct changes in these accessories.

To be counted really well dressed this winter you must wear a "choker" collar of fur, preferably astrakhan, beaver, seal, ermine or some other smooth fur.

SEYMOUR LODGES PLAN SEVERAL LOCAL EVENTS

The fraternal organizations in Seymour which have women among their membership, are planning a number of delightful social events during the winter. Such features are always enjoyable. Almost all such lodges have entertainment committees who prepare programs in which much originality is portrayed. A number of the organizations plan a social at the close of almost each business session with a new entertainment committee in charge of each. Many novel entertainments are in store for the members during the coming winter.

Removable Stones for Rings.

Rings that turn as easily as chameleons to the color nearest them are the newest fad of fancy. If a green gown is to be worn to dinner, Miss Fashion slips out of the surrounding diamonds and turquoise she affected last night in a blue frock and in its place she deftly slips a stone to give to her costume that harmony of color or contrast she desires.

Novelties in Pocketbooks.

Pocketbooks of white kid, or of black and white kid, have come with the summer. The black and white pocketbooks present many novelties, but the all white bag, though perishable, is particularly lovely; especially with light colored and white suits. The final artistic note is given to these pocketbooks by a lining of black and white striped taffeta.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Message From New York.
It was good to be home! Gail wondered that she could ever have been content away from the loving shelter of her many, many friends. She had grown world weary in all the false gaiety of New York! She was disillusioned! She was blasé. She was tired of frivolity; and she immediately planned or enthusiastically agreed to take part in a series of gayeties which would have made an average hard-working man anticipate them with an already broken constitution.

The house was full of them, morning, noon and night; young girls, sedate and jolly, and all of them excitedly glad that Gail was among them again; and young men, in all the degrees from social butterflies to plodding business pluggers, equally glad.

Good, comfortable home folks these, who were deliciously nice to the stately, black-haired Arly, and voted her a tremendous beauty, and stood slightly in awe of her. The half cynical Arly, viewing them critically, found in them one note of interesting novelty—a certain general clean-hearted wholesomeness, and, being a seeker after the unusual, and vastly appreciative, she deliberately cultivated them; flattering the boys, but not so much as to make the other girls hate her. To the girls she made herself even more attractive, because she liked them better. She complimented them individually on the point of perfection for which each girl most prided herself; she told them that they were infinitely more clever than the women of New York, and better looking, in general; for the New York women were mostly clothes and makeup; and, above all, she envied them their truer lives!

No group of young people could resist such careful work as that, especially when performed by a young woman so adroit and so attractive, and so well groomed; so they lost their awkwardness with her, which removed any sense of discomfort Gail might have felt, which was the aim to be accomplished. In those first few days

Gail was the happiest of all creatures, in spite of the fact that the local papers had carried a politer echo of that despicable slave story. At nights, however, beginning with the second one, when the girls had retired to the mutual runway of their adjoining suites, the conversation would turn something like this:

"Let's see, this is the seventeenth, isn't it?" thus Arly.

"Yes; Tuesday," concentratedly selecting a chocolate, the box of which bore a New York name.

"Mrs. Matson's ice skating ball is tonight." A sidelong glance at the busy Gail. "She always has such original affairs."

"Doesn't she!" Gail draws her sandaled feet up under her and stretches down her pink negligee, so that she looks like a stiff statue in tinted ivory.

"And such interesting people. That new artist is certain to be there. What's his name? Oh, yes, Vlodow. I could adore him."

"You're a mere verbal adorer," laughs Gail, studying anxiously over the problem of whether she wants another piece of chocolate or not. Allison had sent such good ones. "Vlodow eats garlic."

"That's why I adore him, from a distance. Of course all the nice regular fellows will be there—Dick, Rodley and Ted, and Houston, and— Oh, oh! I forgot to write Gerald," and with a swift passing kiss somewhere between Gail's ear and her chin, she hurries into her own dressing room, with a backward glance to make sure that Gail is staring, with softened brown eyes, down into her chocolate box, and seeing there amid the confections, the laughing, swirling skaters in Mrs. Matson's glistening ballroom. There were some who would not be at that ball—Allison, and Rev. Smith Boyd, and—Arlene has plenty of time to write her formally dutiful letter without disturbance.

Gail has letters, too, as the days wear on. She scarcely has time for them amid all the impromptu gayeties, but she does find a chance to read them; some of them twice. If she'd only come back. That was the tenor of all her letters; if she'd only come back! Bless their hearts, she loved them; and yes, she longed for them, even here in the happy, sheltering environment of her own dear home and friends! There were still other letters; a confidently friendly one from Allison, who sent her regularly candy and flowers on alternate days; a substantial one from Houston Van Ploon; a thoughtful one from Willis Cunningham; a florid one from Dick Rodley; nice little notes, calculated to relieve her embarrassment, from all her "slaves" except the missing count, and a discussion from the Rev. Smith Boyd. That was one of those which she read more than once; for it was quite worth it.

There was an impromptu party at Gail's house a jolly affair, indeed. All her old steadfast friends, you know, who were quite sufficient to fill her life; and this was the night of the gay little Mrs. Babbitt's affair in New York. How much better than those great, glittering social pageants was a simple, wholesome little ball like this with all her dear girl chums, in their pretty little Paris model frocks, and all the boys, in their shiny white fronts. No one had changed, and she quite felt, except for the presence of Arly, that she had fallen back into her old familiar life. Why, it seemed as if she had been home for ages and ages!

At the end of the Sargent ballroom, where Gail's sedate but hospitable mother always sat until the "Home, Sweet Home" dance was ended, were the same dear, familiar palms, which Marty, the florist, always sent to everybody's house to augment the home collection. The gorgeous big one had a leaf gone, but it was sprouting two others.

Tremendously gay affair. Everybody was delighted, and said so; and they laughed and danced and strolled and ate ices, and said jolly nothings, and knew, justifiably, that they were nice and clever and happy young people; and Arly Fosland, with any number of young men wondering how old her husband was, danced conscientiously, and smiled immediately when anyone looked at her. Gail also was dancing conscientiously, and having a perfectly happy evening. At about this hour there would be something near four hundred people in the ballroom and the drawing rooms and the conservatory of Mrs. Babbitt's.

She was whirling near the balcony windows with a tall young friend who breathed, when there was an exclamation from a group of girls at the window. Vivian Jennings turned. She was a girl with the sort of eyes which, in one sweep, can find the only four-leaved clover in a 40-foot field.

"Gail!" she cried, almost dancing. "Gail! Do come and see it!"

Gail did not desert her partner; she merely started over to the window with one hand trailing behind her as an indication to follow, and immediately, without looking around, she called:

"Arly! Where's Arly?"

What she saw was this. A rich, brown limousine, in which the dome light was brightly burning, had drawn up to the steps. Inside, among the rich brown cushions and hangings, and pausing to light a leisurely cigarette, sat the most wickedly handsome man in the world! He was black-haired and black-mustached and black goateed, and had large, lustrous, melting black eyes, while on his oval cheek was the ruddy bloom of health. Every girl in the window sighed, as, with a movement which was grace in every changing line, he stepped out of the brilliantly lighted limousine, and came slowly up the steps, tall, slender, magnificent, in his shining silk hat and his flowing Inverness.

Inside Sat the Most Wickedly Handsome Man in the World.

and his white tie, and his plaited shirt front—oh, everything; correct to the last detail, except for the trifling touches of originality, down to his patent leather tips! With a wave of careless ease he flung back his Inverness over one shoulder, and rang the bell!

"Dick!" cried a voice just behind Gail's ear. Gail had not known that anyone was leaning heavily on her shoulders, but now she and Arly, with one accord, turned and raced for the vestibule!

"You handsome thing!" cried Arly, as he stepped into the hall and held out a hand to each of them. "I've a notion to kiss you!"

"All right," he beamed down on her, sparing another beam for Gail. No, Gail had not exaggerated in memory the magic of his melting eyes. It could not be exaggerated!

"There aren't any words to tell you how welcome you are!" said Gail, as the butler disappeared with his hat and Inverness.

"What on earth brought you here to bless us?" demanded Arly.

"I came to propose to Gail," announced Dick calmly, and took her hand again, bending down on her that wonderfully magnetic gaze, so that she was panic-stricken in the idea that he was about to proceed with his project right on the spot.

"Wait until after the dance," she laughingly requested, drawing back a step and blushing furiously.

"We're wasting time," protested Arly. "Hurry on in, Dick. We want to exhibit you."

"I don't mind," consented Dick cheerfully, and stepped through the doorway, where he made a decided sensation.

Eleven girls dreamed of his melting eyes that night; and the town boys lost their monopoly. Viewing Gail's victorious scramble with Arly for Dick's exclusive possession, their friends unanimously reduced them to the ranks.

After the dance, Dick made good his threat with Gail, and formally proposed, urging his enterprise in coming after her as one of his claims to consideration; but Gail, laughing, and liking him tremendously, told him he was too handsome to be married, and sent him back home with a fresh gardenia in his buttonhole. That night Arly and Gail sat long and silently on the comfortable couch in front of Arly's fireplace, the one in fluffy pink from under her black eyelashes. The one in pink was gazing into the fire with far-seeing brown eyes, and was braiding and unbraidng, with slender white fingers, a flowing strand of her brown hair.

"Gail," ventured the one in blue. "Yes." This abstractedly.

"Aren't you a little bit homesick? I am."

"So am I!" answered Gail, with sudden animation.

"Let's go back!" excitedly.

"When?" and Gail jumped up. (TO BE CONTINUED)

IMPEACH MAYOR J. M. GOSSOM

Council Votes to Arraign Executive on Serious Charges.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 23.—Seven members of the common council, at a hastily called meeting voted unanimously to impeach Mayor James M. Gossom.

The mayor took office when former Mayor Donn M. Roberts was impeached, following his sentence to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas., for election frauds.

Dr. Flint, Alienist, Dead.

New York, Sept. 23.—Dr. Austin Flint, the alienist whose testimony in the trials of Harry Thaw gained him the reputation of having done more to send the killer of Stanford White to the asylum than any other man, died at his home of a stroke of apoplexy. His death was sudden and entirely unexpected, in spite of the fact that he was over seventy-nine years of age.

You can heat your home with a Hot Blast Air Tight FLORENCE at a cost of from $5.00 to $10.00 for the entire season

The same result that you get with a No. 53 Florence, heating 5 or 6 rooms with $10.00 worth of fuel would cost you, if you used artificial gas $200.00 to $250.00—J. B. Howard, Inventor of the Florence

The Greatest Stove Ever Made for Burning Soft Coal, Slack, or Any Kind of Fuel

The Hot Blast Air Tight FLORENCE

For 15 Years and Is Still the Wonder of the Age as a Heating Stove

Come and let us show you the wonderful HOT BLAST AIR TIGHT FLORENCE that burns absolutely all the smoke, soot, and gas in the cheapest soft coal or slack. It will enable you to realize that you can burn the cheapest soft coal or slack with the same regularity and cleanliness as if you were burning artificial or natural gas. It will enable you to realize that you can burn the cheapest soft coal or slack without any soot accumulating in the inside of the stove, in the pipe, or in the flue. It will enable you to realize that the FLORENCE is the only absolute practical smoke consuming device or stove that has ever been created.

$5000 Will be Paid

THE J. B. HOWARD COMBUSTION DEVICE, which is embodied in the Hot Blast Air Tight Florence, is the reason why the Florence is the only absolute smoke consuming device that has ever been constructed in the history of the burning of bituminous coal.

No Smoke! No Soot! No Dirt!
EVERYTHING CONSUMED

No Clinkers from Hard or Soft Coal!
ASHES AS FINE AS POWDER

The Most Economical Stove on Earth!
It is not the original cost of a stove, but it is what it costs to operate it that counts. The FLORENCE is an investment; it pays for itself in a very short time.

The Only Jointless Leg Bottom and Base
With full radiation that is on the market, or that has ever been made. The result is, as a fire keeper it will be just as good twenty-five years from now.

Remember the
FLORENCE Heats the Floor
Five or six feet from the stove.

If the firepot cracks in five years we will give you ONE FREE OF CHARGE. The reason for this is the Florence burns out the fuel. In all other stoves the fuel burns out the stove.

to any stove manufacturer or dealer who will produce a stove that will consume all the smoke or all the ingredients of Soft Coal from the moment the fire is started, outside the construction of the Florence. This offer holds good until January 1, 1916.
(Signed) J. B. HOWARD.

The Hot Blast Air-Tight Florence

will burn anything combustible—hard or soft coal, coal siftings, coal dust, slack coal, coke, wood, sawdust, and rubbish. The fire never goes out, day or night, and a steady, even temperature may be maintained. All features are patented, and the J. B. Howard Combustion Patent, which has made the Florence famous, was sustained THREE DIFFERENT TIMES by the U. S. Courts, and any stove manufacturer, dealer or purchaser using same without proper authority will be rendering himself liable for profits and damages. It is the zenith of stove perfection—the most important stove invention of modern times.

COME AND SEE THIS WONDERFUL STOVE OPERATED.

—IF THE— FLORENCE

Is Operated According to Directions

The No. 21 will heat one small room all winter with two tons of slack or lump coal.

The No. 48 will heat two or three small rooms all winter with two and three-fourths tons of slack or lump coal.

The No. 51 or No. 34 will heat three or four rooms all winter with three tons of slack or lump coal.

The No. 53 or No. 36 will heat five rooms all winter with four tons of slack or lump coal.

The No. 55 or No. 38 will heat a large store or school room with six tons slack or lump coal. For a church less coal will be required.

Will burn a ton less of hard coal than a hard coal Base Burner of the same size and heat twice the space.
